

Inter-College Radio Network

Gerhart W. Heyer of Summit, N. J., a junior in industrial distribution at Clarkson College of Technology, has been elected president of the Inter College Radio Network for the 1963-64 academic year.

Other Clarkson students who are members of the new executive committee for the radio network are the station manager of WCCT, Kenneth M. Kaufman, Great Neck, a freshman in engineering; the technical director, Richard L. Place, Vestal, junior in electrical engineering; the business manager, Robert L. Rhoda, Corning, junior in business administration; and the executive secretary, Robert R. Stolte, Huntington, junior in industrial distribution. The station manager of WNTC is John Smith, Manhasset, a junior in secondary education at the State University College at Potsdam.

The new officials will begin their duties on May 4, 1963.

The Inter College Radio Network operates two carrier current stations, WCCT and WNTC, in the dormitories of both Clarkson College and the State University College at Potsdam. The ICRN also will operate the new educational FM station for which a construction permit was recently granted to Clarkson College by the Federal Communications Commission.
